Irma Sweeps Little League Baseball Series July 10

The Irma Board of Trade fielded a perfectly balanced Little League team to carry away the round-robin series and win the "Little League" championship of Wainwright and district. Irma showed superiority in most every department as they took the series with three straight victories. Their fine balance and all-around ability smothered the pitching power of the Wainwright Elks, grounded the power-hitting Chauvin Legion Cubs, and broke the driving spirit of the scrappy Buffalo Coulee team.

In the opening games, Wainwright defeated Buffalo Coulee 16-2 and Irma defeated Chauvin 12-9 on July 3rd. On July 7th, Irma rolled roughed over the Wainwright Elks 20-4 while Chauvin crushed Buffalo Coulee 8-0.

The two final games were played Friday evening, July 10. Chauvin drove in 6 runs in the third inning and coasted to a 10-4 victory over Bob McKay's Wainwright Elks. On the Parkview diamond, a spirited Buffalo Coulee club really made things interesting for the Irma team. This was a free-hitting, high-scoring game in which the Irma club always held a slight lead but was never in command until the final inning. Here spirit proved to be insufficient and the better balanced, more powerful hitting Board of Trade team wound up with a 23-15 victory and the championship.

The winning team was presented with a beautiful trophy by the local Little League President, Fred Forester, immediately following the game. The games were very well officiated by umpires Bud Spornitz, Glen Neff and Mike Gavinchuk behind the plate and Coach Greer, Stan Smith and Mike Gormley in the field.

Weekly Inspirational Corner

(Sponsored by an Irma Times reader)

That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved.

For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.

For the scripture saith, whosoever believeth on Him shall not be ashamed.

For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek; for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon Him.

For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved. —Rom. 10:9-13.

Wainwright Deaneary WA Meets

A well attended 19th annual Deaneary WA Conference was held in Tofield on Tuesday, June 2nd.

At 11 a.m. Corporate Communion was celebrated in Holy Trinity Church by Rev. Brown of Tofield, assisted by Rev. Crawley of Viking, who preached the sermon.

Preceding the Communion Service two ladies received life memberships in our Diocesan WA. Mrs. Bailey of Tofield received hers from Holy Trinity WA Afternoon Group, of Tofield, and Mrs. T. N. Withnell of Edmonton from the Wainwright Deaneary WA.

Following the service, the ladies went to the Tofield Memorial Hall, where a delicious luncheon, served by the Tofield FWUA, was enjoyed by one and all.

At 2 p.m. following registration the Conference opened by repeating the Member's WA prayer. The address of welcome given by Mrs. Brown of Tofield was replied to by Mrs. Darling of Edmonton.

All eight branches in the Deaneary were represented and splendid reports were given from each branch.

The UTO this year was much larger as was the amount of money to be voted out. The money which was voted out was divided evenly between the Dispensary in India; the Sunday School of the Air and the Lorne Bar Memorial Fund.

Diocesan Officers from Edmonton, who brought valuable and informative messages, were Mrs. Neely, vice president; Mrs. Davis, Dorcas Secretary; and Mrs. Hirst, UTO Secretary.

During the latter part of the Conference, several clergymen of the Deaneary arrived, after having attended an Ordination Service in the morning at All Saints Cathedral where Rev. Ingram of Edmonton was ordained a priest.

Our President, Mrs. Withnell, introduced Rev. Ingram and in a few well chosen words, expressed our congratulations.

The Deaneary Dorcas project of knitting socks, mitts and scarves for Indian girls at Wabasca, was accepted again for next year.

There were 65 pairs of mitts, 32 pairs of socks and 2 scarves turned in at this Conference for this year.

Mrs. Ingram of Edmonton showed slides and gave a very inspiring talk on her work at Akleivik, where she spent five years as a missionary just before coming here.

Evensong closed the day's program.

A pleasant social hour was then spent, when a delicious lunch was served by the Tofield WA ladies.

Again a very inspiring day, including a wonderful devotional period, brought this year's Deaneary WA Conference to a close until we meet again next May 25 at Irma at the invitation of St. Mary's WA, which was gratefully accepted.

Officers elected for 1958-60 by acclamation were:

Hon. Pres.—Mrs. F. Thurston, Irma.
President—Mrs. T. N. Withnell, Edmonton.

Vice-Pres.—Miss E. Bacon, Wainwright.
Sec.-Treas.—Mrs. A. J. Patterson, Heath.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Archibald of Irma wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Colleen Rosemarie, to Constable William Gordon Moffatt of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Crawford Moffatt of Vancouver, B.C. The marriage will take place on August 15th at 4:30 p.m. at Central United Church, Edmonton.

WEDDING BELLS

CRAIG — CROZIER

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized recently at Wesley United Church in Edmonton when James Craig Jr., only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Craig, Wainwright, and Phyllis Ellen Crozier of Edmonton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Thurston of Irma, were married. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. David Gilchrist.

The bride's dress was an original model in printed terylene in shades of beige and brown, with fitted jacket and slim skirt. With it she wore a white lace picture hat, and white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses and white Stephanotis. Her attendant, Mrs. John Wilkie, of Edmonton, chose a two-piece suit of blue and white in French blue. Her accessories were white, and her costume was accented with a corsage of pink roses.

The groom was attended by Mr. Donald McKay of Irma. After a wedding breakfast at the Corona Hotel, the happy couple left for a honeymoon in California and Oregon. On their return they will reside on the groom's farm north of Irma.

WITH THE District Agriculturist

By J. S. Duncan

Why Summerfallow?

There are only two reasons ever given for the use of summerfallow. One is to control weeds and the other is to conserve moisture. If these aims are not achieved, then all that you have done is to take land out of production for a year and gone to some additional expense. As I travel around the country I see quite a number of summerfallow fields.

Fields including stinkweed with seed practically matured, wild oats headed out and patches of thistle and quack grass growing beautifully. It is obvious that these fields are not going to result in either weed control or saved moisture. They might as well have been seeded, in which case there would at least be competition for the weeds. The use of blade equipment or rod weeder gives good weed control and maintains trash on the surface which can help to prevent wind and water erosion. Disc type equipment tends to pulverize the soil and bury trash.

Clean Up Field Egregs:

While the haying equipment is in use it is a good idea to take two swaths with the mower around the headlands and edges of all grain fields. Doing this has several advantages: it gathers up quite a bit of feed for winter use; it makes the fields look much neater and prevents weeds from going to seed; and it makes it much easier to start the field when swathing or combining.

Stock Watering Dugouts:

The Water Development Branch of P.F.A. gives both engineering advice and financial assistance toward making dugouts. Applications or enquiries from this district should be sent to the P.F.A. office, Hanna, Alberta. Try to get your application in at least a month before you want to start work so that the engineer has a chance to get to see you, (two months would be better). Application forms are available from this office.

SHOOTS LYNX IN FARM YARD

(From The Viking News)

Bud Hanson shot a young half-grown lynx at his farm Wednesday night as the 21-lb. animal attempted to enter the chicken coop. Bud did a neat job of shooting the animal in the neck, not damaging the appearance of it at all. He brought the cat over to the north grass camp where pictures were taken before the lynx was taken to Mr. Beathorpe, head of the Diamond "B" Bird Sanctuary, which has many kinds of animals and is open to visitors every Wednesday and Sunday.

Irma Citizens Greet Royal Couple

When news came through at noon on Tuesday that the Royal Train would slow down going through Irma that afternoon and that Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip would be out on the observation platform, things began to happen.

Irma folk, headed by members of the Canadian Legion, really went to work and in the short time allotted them, put on a gallant show. Trunks, attics, lodge halls and public buildings were raided and a truly satisfying array of flags and bunting was brought forth.

Someone remembered that Irma boasts two Boer War veterans. A flag-draped seat of honor was made for them on the station platform for Mr. Jack Roe and Mr. Wm. Cole. Above it was a large placard artistically lettered by Mr. D. H. Gunn bearing the words "Veterans of the Boer War."

We understand that one Boer War veteran was on view when the Royal Couple later stopped at Wainwright. Wasn't it just like Irma to "Get there first with the mostest?"

When the Royal Train did appear and began to slacken speed, excitement knew no bounds. Everyone cheered and waved frantically. Her Majesty, hatless, in a yellow and green print dress and Prince Philip in shirt sleeves, paid a double compliment to our free and easy Western manner and our sunny climate. Some cried out, "She's prettier than her pictures"; others who didn't expect to feel that way at all, found their eyes were misty and a mysterious lump in the throat kept them from saying anything.

1959 A.W.I. Girls Club Provincial Convention

Another successful A.W.I. Girls Club Provincial Convention was held at the Irma School of Agriculture.

Competition was keen with entries in sports, public speaking and handicrafts. The quality of all entries showed great improvement. Girls and supervisors are to be commended.

The colorful fashion show was presented under the direction of Miss Evans, with girls modelling their own fashions.

Mrs. H. M. Haney, Alberta W.I. representative and Mrs. H. C. Odland, Prov. Supervisor, poured at the formal tea that followed.

The five district directors supervised sports and games on the lawns until supper time.

A varied amateur program was enjoyed by delegates and guests followed by a sing-song and games.

Election of officers resulted in the following slate for a two year term:

Provincial President, Helge Furstenworth, Hines Creek Pen-y-Loafers; Provincial Vice-President, Dolly Monson, Turin Twinkle Toes; Directors—District 1, Charlotte Battenson, Sunflowers of Brownvale; District 2, Tattie Brownale; District 3, Mrs. Shapka, Warapite; District 4, Frances Tvo, Sundial Sunbeams; District 5, Jeanette Naderer, Lone Pine Orioles; Associate Supervisors: District 1, Mrs. Tattie Brownale; District 2, Mrs. Shapka, Warapite; District 3, has no supervisor; District 4, Mrs. Ross Main, Turin; District 5, Mrs. G. Graham, Olds.

The conference was concluded with a banquet, Sheila Stearns, Provincial President presided.

Trophies were awarded to the following Public Speaking—Jr. Marian Dodd, Merry Easterners, Olds; Int. Rita Watson, Travers Little Ladies; Sr. Patricia Hoss, Bancroft Buttercup.

Sports—Lillian Ward, Wabamun Lakeside Jolly Juniors.

Proficiency—Bancroft Buttercup.

Handicraft—Bancroft Buttercup.

Short stories—Bancroft Buttercup, Pat Hoskin.

The climax was reached when all participated in a masquerade party, thus closing the 41st annual conference.

for a minute. Then the Royal Train was gone, but Irma had had her moment of glory and had risen to the occasion most commendably.

Many Irma people saw the Royal Couple in Wainwright. Among those presented to their Majesties were: Mayor and Mrs. J. D. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. C. Smallwood, Mr. and Mrs. H. Ruste and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Archibald.

The Mysterious Travels of an Irma Times

A rather grimy and battered copy of the Irma Times dated July 18, 1958, has just been returned to ye local Ed. who posted it out to Roy Latner of Kitchener, Ont. about a year ago.

Mrs. Edwin Goodale of Dundas, Ont. brought it to Irma with her at the end of June this year and tells the following strange story.

It seems that Gordon Wells of Dundas, son-in-law of Mrs. Goodale, was building a stock car and sent to California for special parts. When these came they were wrapped in this Irma Times. The magic word "Irma" caught his eye and he asked his wife (Marjorie Goodale) if that wasn't where she used to live. She immediately began to give the paper a once-over and on the back page read of her uncle and aunt's visit to Irma (Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Goodale). Her mother brought the paper back to us with Roy Latner's label still on it. We are hoping that Roy will be able to give us some light on how it got to California.

Film Festival at Fort Qu'Appelle

Fort Qu'Appelle's first Summer Film Festival closed July 8 ending two days of outstanding films which were seen by over 500 people. Sponsored by the Fort Qu'Appelle Community Centre Organization and the Chamber of Commerce, the festival dealt with the theme of "Creative Man".

Those who attended the four sessions of the festival were treated to a diverse selection of 16mm motion pictures, many of which had their first Saskatchewan screening, supplied through courtesy of the Danish, Japanese, Spanish, German, French, American and Canadian Embassies and Consulates. These were complemented with films from Canada's National Film Board and the United Nations.

The creative potential that exists within everyone was dealt with and how it finds expression through work, play, music, art, craft and faith. "Railroad" from Canada graphically portrayed the work of section crews maintaining the right of way on the CPR main line mountain divide. This contrasted with the struggle for life and the help offered by UNICEF in Thailand and Mexico, as seen in "World Without End".

People's faith and beliefs were seen through a colorful film from Spain dealing with early Christian Church Art and in the truly outstanding Canadian film "The Living Stone" which showed the relationship of Eskimo stone carving to the life and existence of Canada's northernmost citizens.

The German film "Music for Children" explored the innate sense of rhythm in children as displayed in their games and play. The American contribution "Impressional Years" took the audience into the world of wonderment discovered by children when they are taken to a Children's Community Library.

The Danish film "D for Design" dramatically brought the viewers into visual contact with the work of contemporary craftsmen as they attempt to add beauty and utility to the objects of everyday life—furniture, fabrics, pottery and utensils. The Japanese film "Flowers in Daily Life" presented the underlying philosophy and technique of arranging and using flowers. The most popular film of the festival proved to be "Pantomime" a beautiful French film which presented the art of Marcel Marceau, probably the world's foremost mime.

Other films which were presented were "City of Gold" from Canada, "The Art of the Swordsmith" from Japan, "Bliss" a biographic film from France and a number of experimental art films by Canada's Norman MacLaren.

The success of this festival, which regional directors of the National Film Board feel is the first of its kind to be held in Canada, has prompted the committee in charge to lay plans for future Summer Festivals. It is hoped to enlarge the scope of the festival and to make it a permanent part of the summer activities in the Qu'Appelle Valley.

The Community Centre Organization and the Chamber of Commerce were assisted by the Saskatchewan Arts Board and the National Film Board, these organizations acting as advisors in choice and selection of films.

Seaway inspection problems

The St. Lawrence Seaway has improved transportation facilities but it has also increased the complexity of several phases of plant protection work, says W. N. Keenan, Director of the Plant Protection Division, Canada Department of Agriculture.

Impact of diversified activity on the seaway has already been felt in the inspection of ships' holds prior to the loading of Canadian grain and cereal products for export. There is now a tendency for ships to carry cargoes of more diverse types and of both American and Canadian origin.

This problem, says Mr. Keenan, was illustrated by the loading of the S. S. Concordia. Outward bound, she took on an extensive cargo of grain in the United States and returned to Hamilton, Ont., to complete loading with a Canadian cereal product.

At this point, Division inspectors checked the space reserved for the Canadian cargo and uncovered a localized Khapra beetle infestation. A thorough cleaning was ordered.

Normally, fumigation of the infested area would have been required, but it could not be ordered because of possible damage to the grain. United Kingdom inspection authorities were notified of the infestation since the ship was bound for Liverpool, England, and United States agricultural officials also advised.

Says Mr. Keenan: "It is hoped that with greater mutual exchange of information and co-operation between the inspection authorities in the countries concerned with such problems, the increased possibilities for the spread of dangerous insects, stored-products insects, for example, will be reduced to the minimum."

Millions have been spent on the eradication of the Khapra beetle in the southwestern United States. No outbreaks are known to occur in Canada.

The identity of the specimens collected by the Canadian inspectors was confirmed by a Washington specialist.

DRIVE WITH CARE—THE LIFE YOU SAVE MAY BE YOUR OWN

Girls shun rural life

As if they didn't have enough troubles with such things as the weather, over production and mounting costs, Canada's farmers have another modern-day worry: Girls! The lack of them.

Dr. Helen C. Abell, rural sociologist with the Canada Department of Agriculture, says that free and compulsory education and other far-reaching economic and social changes have brought about some new aspects of rural life.

One phenomenon is that in some areas of Canada there is a scarcity of unmarried women—a cause of concern not only to bachelors, but to community organizations and activities. Thousands of young rural women are obtaining training and education which fits them for work and professions in urban centers.

Dr. Abell points out that 80 out of 100 Canadians were rural dwellers. In 1956, this figure had shrunk to 33 out of 100 and of these only half were actually living on farms.

As Canada grows in population and industry, the proportion of rural people is getting smaller. Although there are fewer farms each year, the average number of acres per farm is increasing and this keeps the total amount of land under cultivation almost constant. With many agricultural products, Canada produces more than can be eaten at home.

What does it all mean? For one thing, says Dr. Abell, it means that fewer and fewer farmers are able to supply more and more non-farmers with essential food and fibre.

The "hired girl" is practically non-existent and the hired man is no longer found on many farms. Average number of people in each farm family is between four and five—still larger than urban families which average three to four.

Wives pitch in. Concurrent with the increase in part-time farming, the scarcity of hired men and other factors, there has been a noticeable increase of unpaid female farm labor—probably farm wives and other family members.

The next census as well as our own observations will help us recognize other changes that are taking place in our rural population," comments Dr. Abell.

"By being aware of these changes, it will be possible for us to more fully appreciate the important role of the farmer as a vital element in the population of Canada."

LIGHT IN THE DARKNESS

When it is necessary to walk among dark country roads at night, a wide band of luminous fabric or glowing tape should be used on the back of the coat or as a belt, and lighted lantern or flashlight carried to alert the motorist to the pedestrian. Failing these, a large piece of white material can be carried. Since not all motorists are careful drivers, it is safer if not so dignified, to step off the road until the car has passed.

"USEFUL ART"

Hundreds of mothers of young children are heaping praises and thanks on Montreal artist, Eva Frager, for a painting she recently completed.

The painting, a wall mural at the Montreal Children's Hospital, is banishing the tears and terrors of young patients and thoroughly disproving the theory that art is useless.

The picture fascinates youngsters in the X-ray department, waiting room, with views of monkeys, rabbits, puppies and human youngsters happily submitting to the attentions of puffy cat nurses and doctors. Children and animals are mixed up throughout the happy scenes depicting hospital activities.

Mrs. Frager said she wanted to show children what would be done to them, in the happiest way possible. She took months to complete the mural because she refused to work on it except when she herself was in a happy, cheerful mood.

Hospital doctors and nurses say the painting is an enormous help in the work of their department. It not only entertains, it makes the children interested in the hospital work, and stills their fears.

Bavarian-born, Mrs. Frager has studied painting in Berlin, Paris and London. She lived in England for many years before coming to Canada. She is a fifth generation artist and the daughter of the famous painter, Joseph Oppenheim.

She donated the painting to the hospital but says she has been richly rewarded by its success. "Perfect strangers phone me up to congratulate me."

The final proof of that success came recently when she took her own young son to the hospital for X-rays on a broken bone.

News Report From Edmonton

By Ken Mason

EDMONTON — Last week's announcement of a major hydro and water storage project in remote country southwest of Edmonton came as welcome news to the Alberta government.

It gives the province an easy way out of one of its most pressing problems—pollution of the North Saskatchewan River downstream from Edmonton during the winter months when the water level drops.

If Calgary Power Ltd. hadn't decided to make an immediate start on the project, the government sooner or later would have been forced to undertake its own pollution control measures and it almost certainly would have cost the taxpayers more.

As it is, the government will make a contribution to the project. Calgary Power normally would have waited another 10 years or so before starting the project, but under government urging will begin construction this year. In return, the government will build an access road into the site. Still under discussion is the extent to which the province will compensate Calgary Power for downstream benefits.

The dam will be built on the Bozeman River, a main tributary of the North Saskatchewan, about 100 miles southwest of Edmonton. Stored water will be released during the winter, to raise the North Saskatchewan level. This will mean a constant oxygen supply in the water to reduce pollution, also will mean the river in the Edmonton area can handle more industrial development.

Edmonton and Calgary Press and radio reporters were flown over the damsite in a chartered airliner last week. Calgary Power officials say the initial cost of the dam, powerhouse and one 200,000-horsepower generating unit will be $45,000,000. The first power should be available for peak demand periods in late 1963 or 1964.

The damsite is in isolated forest and muskeg country which few white men had even seen until oil exploration crews began moving into the area a few years ago. The access road will be built south from the town of Lodgepole in the Pembina oil field.

ARE CANADA'S GAMBLING laws unrealistic, even contradictory? Last week there was plenty of evidence to indicate they are.

The attorney-general's department was pressing lottery charges in connection with a "dream home" giveaway being sponsored by a number of community leagues and Canadian Legion branches.

And in police court last week the Proctor and Gamble Co. was acquitted of lottery charges laid in connection with a soap promotion campaign.

But during the same week here in the capital thousands of citizens and visitors were flocking to the Edmonton Exhibition where they could legally bet on the horse races, buy tickets on three cars, a $25,000 house and a $5,000 airplane, and play games of chance against terrific odds on the midway. And it was all legal because the Edmonton Exhibition is held in aid of agriculture.

Premier Manning, in his capacity as attorney-general, was wishing Ottawa would do something to clarify the gambling laws. It's the federal lawmakers who pass them, he pointed out, but the provinces must enforce them. He made the observation in reply to "dream home" promoters who were pointing to the unrestricted gambling at the summer fair and shouting "discrimination."

Privately the premier agrees the lottery laws are unrealistic but there's not much he can do about it.

WET WEATHER of the past month has slowed down Alberta's $72,000,000 highway program. Highways Minister Gordon Taylor reported last week that wet weather has resulted in the loss of 773 shifts, compared with 582 at the same time last year.

The grading program is only 21 per cent completed, while crews have been able to lay only 19 per cent of the base course slated for this year. The program of applying light blacktopping to 200 miles of secondary roads has been hard hit. Last

To Mark National Farm Safety Week

One hundred and forty-eight Alberta farm residents lost their lives in accidents of one kind or another last year. Statistics would indicate the toll will be higher this year.

In an attempt to arrest what Bill Perkins, Alberta's farm safety director, calls these "needless killings," safety organizations from coast to coast will join in the coming week in "National Farm Safety Week."

Aim of the week, which has been endorsed by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and other leading national figures, is to show farmers from coast to coast that common sense will reduce the toll.

"In talking to many accident victims," Mr. Perkins said, "there always are statements like these: 'I became so exasperated I threw caution to the winds'; or, 'I knew I should have turned the power off, but I tried to save a moment' or even, 'I was really tired, but I wanted to finish the last few rows.'"

The Safety Director added: "Neither the injured nor the dead would have been 'accident' victims if they had exercised some common sense."

Of the 148 farm residents who met accidental deaths last year, 51 were under 19 years of age; 28 of them were under nine, 37 of them were under 60, while the remaining 60 were between 19 and 59, according to figures compiled by the Alberta Safety Council. At least 80 times the fatality toll were maimed.

The Week, which is designed around the slogan, "Safety Makes Sense," is sponsored by provincial safety councils, farm organizations, and the Canadian Federation of Farm Equipment Dealers.

Week only 29 miles had been completed. But last week also saw a return to good construction weather and contractors on all jobs were reported making the most of it.

THE RETURN OF HOT, dry weather also brought on a rash of forest fires, most of them caused by lightning strikes in the extreme north. One fire, fanned by gale-force winds, spread over 10,000 acres in the Birch Mountains area northwest of McMurray. Some 200 men were fighting it and every available aircraft was in use.

Wedding Bells

ROBINSON — HODGINS

Vases of mums and a canopy of pink and white streamers formed a setting for the double-ring ceremony on Friday, June 19, 1959, in the Kinsella United Church, when Laura Irene Hodgins, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilson Hodgins, became the bride of William Robinson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Robinson of Viking.

The Rev. C. Swallow performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a fitted ankle-length gown on princess lines, featuring a mandarin collar, long-sleeved sleeves and a lace bodice trimmed with pearl sequins. Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a lace lily point crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses complemented by satin streamers and stephanotis. Her jewellery was a diamond studded pearl choker, a gift of the groom, and cultured pearl earrings, a gift of her grandmother.

Attending the bride were her sister, Mrs. Aletha Mault, as matron of honor; Miss Merle Bell of Calgary and Miss Myrna Harry, as bridesmaids.

The attendants wore identically styled princess lined waist-length dresses of peacock blue crystal charm, complemented by feather head-dresses and mittens to match. They carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations etched with shasta daisies and streamers.

Little Karen Naslund, niece of the groom, acted as flower girl and wore a lace trimmed pink bouffant nylon dress complemented by a white picture hat and white accessories. Karen carried a colonial bouquet identical to the bridesmaids.

The groom's attendants were Thomas Mattinson, Donald Milne and Jack Mattinson. Ushering the guests were the bride's brother, Warren, and the groom's cousin, Ronald McCullum.

Mrs. E. Simmonds played the wedding music. Before the ceremony, Miss Carol Garvie sang "Thru the Years."

A reception for a hundred guests was held in the Kinsella Memorial Hall. To receive, the bride's mother wore a two-piece blue figured dress, accented with pink accessories and a corsage of Italian roses. The groom's mother was frocked in a pink figured dress topped with a navy duster and white accessories. She wore pink rose corsages.

Miss Cleora Garvie was in charge of the guest book.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake placed on a flower base. The cake was beautifully decorated by Mr. Laeser who also decorated the bride's mother's cake 25 years ago.

Mr. Thomas Harry proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded. During the reception Miss Carol Garvie sang "Oh Joy Be Thine."

Later open house was held at the bride's home where the guests admired the beautiful wedding gifts.

Following this a wedding dance was held in the Memorial Hall. Out-of-town guests were from Calgary, Edmonton, Wainwright and Irma.

For her going-away outfit, the bride chose a white sheath topped with a beige duster and brown accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses.

The bride and groom left on a short honeymoon. Upon their return they will take up residence in the Maple Lodge district.

1st Year University Courses at Camrose Lutheran College This September

First-year university courses will be initiated at Camrose Lutheran College in Camrose, Alberta, this September in affiliation with the University of Alberta. The new Junior College is the first private school to qualify for this status under the requirements set forth by the University's Committee on Junior Colleges. A residential high school and business school of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, founded in 1910, Camrose College launched its effort to achieve this higher academic status in 1956 with a capital fund appeal throughout the Canadian constituency of the church to secure funds for a Junior College classroom-library building. This building was completed in January, 1959, and is now fully equipped and ready for the September opening. The formal dedication of the new structure, and the official commencement of the Junior College, is scheduled to take place on October 18 with church, civic, provincial and university officials in attendance.

"We are prepared to handle at least fifty Junior College students this year," the Rev. C. E. Lund, President of Camrose College, has announced. "We are able to offer them residential accommodations as well as the personalized instruction and spiritual concern for which the College has always been known," he continued. Every teacher who will offer Camrose Junior College courses has master's degree in the subjects taught that meets the standards of the University of Alberta and a very close liaison will be maintained between the Junior College teachers and the University department heads in respect to teaching methods, materials and examinations. Every credit granted at the Junior College will consequently receive full value at the University.

The faculty secured at Camrose will make it possible for this school to offer first-year courses leading to a degree in Arts (History, English and Music), Science (including Nursing, Dentistry, Medicine) and other related courses.

Fred Bennett Believed Drowned While On Holidays

(From the Viking News)

A holiday trip to the western states was marked with tragedy for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bennett last weekend. Mr. Bennett is reported missing and presumed drowned in the mouth of the Umpqua River, near the coastal town of Reedsport, Oregon. A cousin of the missing man, Dr. Arthur T. Trenholm, 67, of Gresham, Oregon, and Mr. Bennett, 63, had obtained fishing licenses early Sunday. Although details are sketchy, it is believed the small skiff the men were using capsized in rough water. Later, Dr. Trenholm's body was recovered, but at last reports, search operations were continuing for the body of Mr. Bennett.

An employee of Northwestern Utilities Ltd. at the gas camp, east of Viking for approximately 15 years, Mr. Bennett and his wife, Eva, left the Viking district early last week on holidays to visit friends and relatives in the western states.

WE MUST PRAY

In 2 Kings 6: 8-23 we see how a man of God did more for the defence of a nation than an army. When the king of Syria would plan to place his army in a certain place Elisha would warn the king of Israel in advance. The king of Syria was sore troubled about it so he sent a force to capture Elisha. But Elisha prayed unto the Lord, "Smite this people, I pray thee, with blindness." Then he led them into Samaria, the capital of Israel. He prayed that their eyes might be opened. The king of Israel would have liked to have them slain but Elisha forbade it. He instructed that they be well fed and sent home. So the hands of Syria came no more into the land of Israel.

Today we need more people who can pray. Hitler was smitten with a severe illness some time before his death. This doubtless helped to reduce the incentive to push the war. God is Sovereign over Mr. Krushchev, too. Let us resort to prayer. Then when the time comes for the exercise of mercy, we can manifest that, too.

In the last year of World War II a friend of mine with the air force sent out a few letters urging Scriptures and urging us to pray that the war would soon end. He suggested that we send on the request to five others. Now if this had been an ordinary chain letter, threatening bad luck if we didn't send out five letters, I would have torn it up immediately. I'm not in the slightest degree afraid of this nonsense or working with Satan. But this request for prayer was different! Only God knows the full measure of the effectiveness of our prayers. We must pray now. Once the leaders start pushing the buttons to release the atomic missiles, there won't be time to send out letters calling for prayer. The next war won't last any four or five years.

Our new weapons are not going to prevent war. Our talking in the conference table may delay war, but only God can change the heart of man. He can cleanse the wickedness from the hearts of those who lust for power or he can destroy the wicked. He can do the former only if there is confession and repentance.

Let us have more Elishas; men, women and youth who believe in a God who hears and answers prayer. We have to do about everything else. Now let us try prayer. If we discover sin in our hearts as we pray let us confess it and plead for forgiveness in the Name of Jesus Christ. Through faith in Him who shed His blood for us, we shall be forgiven. Then we'll be able to pray for others.

SPEECH INSTRUCTION—Mrs. Desrosiers, mother of two deaf children, instructing children in speech.

Classes to aid deaf pre-school age children planned in Regina

Help for deaf and partially deaf under-school-age children in Regina has come from an unexpected source. Prompted by the loneliness of her own totally deaf five-year-old son and a hard-of-hearing daughter, a young Regina mother has set in motion an organization which will provide them with special classes next fall.

Six weeks ago, Mrs. Verva Desrosiers began contacting our specialists and speech therapists in the city to find other mothers with problems like her own. Four cases came to light. Newspaper advertising, afternoon radio broadcasts and an announcement at Sunday services in more than 30 city churches brought enquiries from four more young couples in Regina and others at Yorkton, Estevan, Glenora and Rockglen.

"We haven't thought up a name for the organization yet, but what really matters is that we have eight children registered for classes, a teacher has been hired and tuition will begin early in September," says Mrs. Desrosiers.

Regina residents attending the first meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Desrosiers, Mr. and Mrs. T. Howe, Mr. and Mrs. J. Dureau, and Mr. and Mrs. D. Robson. Each couple has a deaf child not yet old enough to attend Saskatchewan School for the Deaf at Saskatoon. "These pre-school years are some of the best learning years," according to Mrs. Desrosiers, herself a former school-teacher. "When they get to the school for the deaf many of these children will be past the age where they feel a real urge to speak. They will have found they can get along without it."

The second meeting of the organization was attended by 22 people, including three speech therapists and W. G. Bates, supervisor of guidance for the department of education.

It has been estimated that the special classes will cost between $2,500 and $3,000 a year, with the cost to each family amounting to about $25 a month. There are hopes that this can be reduced to about $18 a month. Contributions will be on a sliding scale, according to income, so that no hard-of-hearing or deaf child need forego the benefit of pre-school tuition because of his parent's financial limitations.

"We are going to have lots of financial problems," says Ted Desrosiers, who has been elected chairman of the organization. To help out, fathers of children registered for classes are to build school furniture, and tables, cupboards and a desk for the teacher. They are also looking around for toys to be used in play therapy.

"It is important that deaf children of this age should develop socially," says Mr. Desrosiers, making a plea for contributions of unused toys. Primarily, however, the purpose of the classes will be to help children handicapped by hearing defects to develop some speech. It is planned to install amplifying equipment when classes have begun and the organization is assured of its solvency. Accommodation for the classes has been offered by Regina Separate School Board in St. Plus X School, Regina. The teacher will be Mrs. Verna Finley of Regina, who has had five years teaching experience.

The organizers of the classes are facing problems other than limited funds. One is how to meet the needs of children living outside Regina. Three out-of-town couples are anxious to participate in the scheme but their children are too young to be boarded out. The proposed remedy for this is that, where possible, the children's fathers request transfer by their employers.

"We have also met with some apathy and are having to contend with the attitude that all education is a public responsibility. It is an attitude which cannot help these intensely lonely and frustrated children who cannot make themselves understood," asserts Mr. Desrosiers.

The Desrosiers' handicapped children are Michelle aged eight, who with only 25 percent hearing ability is having difficulty in progressing in public school, and Gregory aged five, totally deaf from birth. They have three other children, Angela 11, Conrad 3, and David 1.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Desrosiers are qualified teachers. Mrs. Desrosiers has had eight years teaching experience in rural and village schools in Saskatchewan. Her husband is a physicist and French teacher at Scott Collegiate, Regina.

THE GYPSY IN HIM

A toddler who manages to wander out of the house alone may walk out into the road and be injured or killed in fast traffic. If there is water nearby in lake or river or even in construction trenches, the child may lose his life. Unless he is accompanied by an adult or a responsible older child, he should not be left alone on verandah or in yard if there is no means of locking him in securely.

Safety tip—Take long swims only if you are accompanied by a boat. Make every week water safe this summer. Think—don't sink!

THE VERY LAST SMOKE

Taking the last smoke of the day when in bed is a dangerous habit that may cause a serious fire and even take the smoker's life. A cigarette falling from a drowsy person's fingers may lie smouldering among the bed clothes and then burst into flame at a considerable time later. It is always a good idea to have the day's final smoke while still walking around or when sitting on an upholstered chair, where there is no temptation to drop off to sleep and to drop the cigarette.

The "Mouse" that walks on top of the water

Far to the north, in the quiet dark marshes and along the stream banks in the forested parts of the province, lives a nimble-footed mouse-sized mammal with the amazing ability to walk on top of the water. Actually, this interesting animal runs rather than walks and does manage to keep on the surface for short runs. Sorex palustris, the Water Shrew—he's not at all a mouse, though he much resembles one—can also dive under the water. He swims rapidly, as fast as a fish, and often catches small fish for food! This shrew is well adapted for swimming, having a fringe of stiff hairs on its large hind feet and toes; the middle toes are even partly webbed. Most mammals can swim, even rats, though they don't like water very much. There are records of rabbits, squirrels, woodchucks, bobcats, mice and many other species swimming for one purpose or another. The otter, mink, muskrat and beaver, of course, are excellent swimmers. The Water Shrew alone, however, holds limelight for capering on top of the water. Bubbles of air held in the hairs on its feet seem to afford it support on the surface tension of water.

Like all shrews, it has tiny eyes, a long snout, and many sharp teeth quite unlike those of a rodent. This shrew has a tail almost as long as its body. Its diet, so far as we know, consists of aquatic and other insects, fish, ash eggs, and various invertebrates.

Officially, this dark, 3-inch-long shrew is known only from Prince Albert National Park, but it presumably occurs over most of the forested region of the north. We know little about its actual distribution in Saskatchewan and would be glad to hear from anyone who has been fortunate enough to see one. I've spoken to residents in Prince Albert who have seen a "mouse" that ran on top of the water, but few people know much about its habits. Anyone living in an area where Water Shrews are common is in a position to make a real contribution to our knowledge of this animal.

Five other shrews are known to occur in Saskatchewan as well as a host of other mammals. Everyone interested in mammals will want to obtain the official check-list recently published by the Saskatchewan Natural History Society. This bulletin was written by Harvey Beck, a graduate student at the University of Saskatchewan, in co-operation with the Saskatchewan Museum of Natural History and other authorities. In addition to an up-to-date list of all the mammals, their common and scientific names, there is information on their distribution in the province and a key to their identification. This interesting bulletin is available for only fifty cents (50c). Write to Mr. G. F. Ledingham, 2335 Athol St., Regina, Sask.

FIELD OF VISION

The field of vision is the width of the scene that can be seen at either side while looking straight ahead. With normal sight when looking directly ahead, there is almost a complete arc from left to right in which objects can be seen fairly clearly. If this range narrows, there may be reason to suspect an eye disease called glaucoma and an eye doctor should be consulted as soon as possible. This condition can be particularly dangerous for drivers, whose view of other vehicles coming up on either side may be impeded.

WEEKLY WAGES

The average of weekly wages and salaries paid in Canadian industry stood at $73.09 in February, 1959, compared to $70.62 a year earlier and $58.88 five years ago.

Large Crowd Attends Bruce Stampede

Fair and warm weather greeted the 45th annual Stampede held by the Bruce Stampede Association held on Monday. One of the largest crowds in the history of the Stampede was in attendance and all events were run off with no loss of time between them. The grounds were in excellent shape and all arrangements were well handled by the management.

There was no parking space for the hundreds of cars. The attractions were well roped off from the stampede arena where the cowboys performed in all the events that constituted a real bang-up rodeo. Cliff Smallwood, M.P. for Battle River federal riding, joined in congratulating the management on their 45th stampede which has become one of the major attractions of its kind in east central Alberta.

Winners of the various events will be published in our next issue.

Orcheski - Gardner Wed at Double Ring Ceremony

At a recent ceremony at Our Lady of Assumption Roman Catholic Church, Edmonton, Miss Margaret Ann Gardner, only daughter of Mr. Peter Gardner of Whitecourt, Alberta, became the bride of Mr. Stanley Orcheski, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Orcheski of Kinsella, Alberta.

Re. Rev. J. M. Lyons officiated at the double-ring ceremony at which the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Chosen by the bride for her wedding was a floor length gown of chantilly lace taffeta. The fitted bodice of chantilly lace featured a sabbina neckline and lily point sleeves. The plain full skirt was formed in a bustle back and fell into a slight train. The finger-tip veil of French illusion was held in place by a crown made of chantilly lace. The cascade bouquet of red roses had white streamers with rose buds.

Attending the bride were Miss Alice Ewaskew, maid of honour, and Miss Margaret Orcheski, sister of the groom. They wore identical gowns of pale blue nylon over net, complemented with white feather bandeaus and white shoes. Each carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies.

Attending the groom were Mr. Edward Orcheski, brother of the groom, of Toronto, and Mr. Remy Simpson of Canmore.

The guests were ushered in by Mr. Peter Gardner Jr., brother of the bride and Mr. Andy Orcheski, brother of the groom, of Barrie, Ontario.

Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held at Chick's Bar-B-Q Supper Club at which Rt. Rev. J. M. Lyons proposed the toast that was ably replied to by the groom.

For a wedding trip to Waterton National Park the bride donned a beige dress and mint green duster with white accessories. Yellow sweetheart roses were worn on corsage.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Orcheski will make their home in Edmonton where the groom is a member of the teaching staff of the Edmonton Separate Schools.

HIGHWAY SAFETY

This essay was written by Maureen Gunn, Grade 5, Irma Teacher, Mrs. McRoberts; School Division, Wainwright No. 32; Superintendent, L. G. Hall, B.A. B.Ed.

The highway is one of the most used routes that people take to get from one place to another. Many people get killed each year on the highway.

In an accident near our town, Irma, two men were killed and a woman was injured. They were driving along Highway 14 in the early winter when the highway was icy. About midnight they were moving at quite a speed. The car veered off the highway, knocked down two telephone poles and came to rest in a nearby field.

The accident could probably have been avoided if the car hadn't been going so fast.

Speed limit signs often go unheeded. Fast driving and failure to slow down on curves is probably the greatest cause of highway accidents. Cars travelling fast hit objects in their way with terrific force.

Never exceed the speed limit — sixty miles per hour in daylight, fifty at night.

Congratulations to Maureen Gunn whose prize-winning essay on Highway Safety was recently published in the Wainwright Star.

Electricity Is Safe

If you use common sense

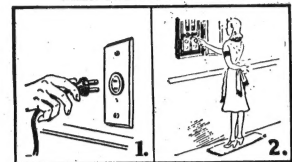

"Here is what may happen if you fail to use common sense."

COMMON SENSE RULES:

1. Employ a competent electrician to wire your home and farm buildings.
2. Use approved appliances, equipment and cords.
3. Never handle cords nor equipment with wet hands or while standing in wet places. Almost all places are wet enough to cause a ground for electricity. Wood and concrete floors have moisture in them.
4. Be familiar with directions for use of each piece of equipment—and operate it according to these directions.
5. Extension cords should not be run under rugs, over nails, nor out-of-doors.
6. Always plug the plug—not the cord when disconnecting equipment.
7. Always replace a blown fuse with another of the same rating. Never use anything else as a substitute for a fuse.
8. Never touch exposed wires until you have turned off the power.
9. Call the nearest power office whenever your own service or the power line goes dead.
10. Always ground portable tools such as drills, hand saws, sanders, etc. before plugging in.
11. When moving tall machines or out-buildings, make certain there is ample room under all power lines.
12. Infra-red heat lamp installation should be of the best workmanship and material. Lamps should be suspended by chain or heavy wire, never by the cord. They should have heat resistant porcelain receptacles. Lamps should be protected from moisture and mechanical injury by a reflector top and hoop style guard underneath.

WHEN YOU CHANGE A FUSE

1. Locate and disconnect lamp or appliance responsible.
2. Locate blown fuse while standing on dry board.
3. Unscrew, being careful not to touch anything but fuse rim. Replace with new fuse of correct ampere rating.

Note: Use 15 ampere fuse for ordinary household or lighting circuits (No. 14 wire). 30 ampere fuse can be used with No. 12 wire.
